Christian Employers Alliance Proudly Announces Appointment of New President

Cumming, GA — The Christian Employers Alliance (CEA), a leading organization dedicated to uniting, equipping, and representing Christian-owned businesses to protect religious freedom and provide opportunities for employees, businesses, and communities to flourish, is excited to announce the appointment of Margaret Iuculano as its new President.

With a distinguished career in executive leadership, Margaret Iuculano brings a wealth of experience and a proven track record in nonprofit management, strategic operations, policy advocacy, and the development of long-term sustainability plans. Her leadership will be instrumental in guiding CEA through its next phase of growth, enhancing its operational excellence, and expanding its impact nationwide.

“Margaret is a dynamic leader with an impressive ability to drive operational success and foster meaningful connections within the community,” said Al Caperna, Vice-Chairman of CEA, and Chairman of CMC Group, Inc. “We are confident her unique giftings, abilities, and expertise will greatly build upon and benefit our organization and amplify our efforts to advocate for Christian employers nationwide.”

In her new role, Margaret will provide vision and strategic direction while overseeing day-to-day operations. She will collaborate closely with CEA’s leadership team to implement membership-enhancing initiatives aligned with the organization’s mission and goals.

“I am honored to join CEA and contribute to its vital work in supporting and empowering Christian employers,” said Margaret Iuculano. “I look forward to working alongside CEA’s dedicated team to expand the organization’s reach and effectiveness, ensuring we continue to make a meaningful difference for our members, their employees, and their communities.”

Margaret’s leadership portfolio includes her recent roles as Chief Operations Officer for Moms for America and Executive Vice President of FreedomWorks. She is widely recognized for her exceptional fundraising expertise and her commitment to mentoring the next generation of leaders.
